

The Heart to grab Idahoans.

“ I do like reading historical accounts, features, essays, stories, and yes, even recipes, from those living in this state. It adds depth to the landscape I've traveled through or plan to visit. ”

—Anna Means, Challis, ID

THE STORIES TO KEEP THEM

IDAHO magazine speaks directly to the independent spirit and curious nature of our readers. Our topics, like our people, are as diverse as the landscapes in which we live. We consider broad interests limited only to the imaginations of our contributors. Our pages are filled with the rugged adventures of those who won't know happiness without the test of wind, water, snow or earth. We feature stories about the strong ties of family, tradition, and community. We publish Idaho's contributions to science, technology, architecture, society...and more.

JOIN US

> GET PUBLISHED

Most of IDAHO magazine content comes from freelance writers and photographers.

IDAHO magazine Cover Photo Contest winning photos are published on our covers.

IDAHO magazine Fiction Writing Contest winning stories are published on our website: www.idahomagazine.com.

A selection of Idaho recipes is published in each issue. We welcome your recipes.

> ENTER OUR ANNUAL CONTESTS

IDAHO magazine Fiction Writing Contest [Deadline: January 31]

IDAHO magazine Cover Photo Contest [Deadline: July 31]

IDAHO magazine Nonfiction Writing Contest [Deadline: August 1]

IDAHO magazine William Studebaker Poetry Contest [Deadline: August 1]

> SHARE IDAHO'S STORY

IDAHO magazine Lesson Plans are published online for Idaho teachers.

We welcome lesson plan submissions from Idaho's certified teachers.

> ONLINE EDITIONS

Online editions are going up monthly. Call to see how you can participate.

